Rib City celebrates Grand Opening Glenwood Springs location now open

Glenwood Springs, CO. (Aug. 15, 2008) – Rib City, a southern style barbecue restaurant, has celebrated the grand opening of its 14th franchise location, announced local franchise owners Mike Spradlin, Mike Noble and Sara Martz.

The Glenwood Springs restaurant is the seventh Rib City to open in Colorado. Co-owners Spradlin, Noble and Martz operate the two of the franchises including the location in Grand Junction and Spradlin and Martz also own the Rib City's in Fruita and Rifle.

“We are so excited to bring our tender fall-off-the-bone ribs to even more people in Colorado,” said Martz.

“Glenwood Springs was lacking a really great BBQ restaurant, and we are thrilled to fill that niche.”

This location's operating hours are Monday through Saturday 11 a.m. - 9 p.m. and Sunday 12 noon – 8 p.m. For to go orders or more information call (970) 945-4227 (4BBQ).

Rib City offers a menu of barbecued meats, specialized sauces and made from scratch side dishes such as baked beans and coleslaw. Rib City achieves authentic backyard barbecue flavor by slowly smoking baby back ribs, chicken, pork and beef over selected hardwoods - including Red Oak - carefully balancing heat and cooking time to seal in the distinctive Rib City BBQ taste.

Meats can be topped with one of four secret recipe sauces: brown sugar based sweet sauce, vinegar based tangy sauce, or hot sauce. For more information or to view a complete menu visit www.ribcity.com.

Founded in Fort Myers, Florida in 1989, there are currently 12 Rib City's throughout Florida and 14 franchise locations throughout the United States including restaurants in Washington, Utah, Colorado, Ohio, Michigan and Oregon.
